CLIPPER BUILDING—

though it has been considered a fire hazard, it never had a fire, even though a number of houses occurred close by. It withstood the great flood of March, 1929, and came through in better condition than the buildings around it. It was built of heart pine lumber and much of the material is of better quality than can be obtained now at any price.

"DID YOU KNOW?"

that the White Cross Hospital and Accident plan was waiting to pay your sickness and accident bill? Why sure and even for the time you lose while you are sick or hurt. And listen to this. There is no red tape to go through with. Any hospital anywhere in the U. S. or Canada will take you in for treatment and give settlement by your receipt or your card policy number. It's just that easy. Why not fall in line with the other thousands of people who have taken advantage of this great protection. It pays doctor bills at home together with all medicine in any case up to $150 and complete hospital expenses including all medical, X-ray, ambulance service, blood transfusion, iron lung, operating room and surgical.

So if you will act now before this opportunity is closed, you may be taken in by your family group or singly. Contact our nearest agent who is C. G. Rhodes for Coffee, Pike, Covington, Geneva and Dale counties. Mr. Rhodes is duly authorized to see you and transact your business. You may address him at his home, Elba, Ala., Route 3, C. G. Rhodes. He will be glad to see you by appointment at your home, or contact him at Bonneau-Jeter Hardware on Saturday.

On another type policy, it can be arranged for pay to start the very first day of sickness or accident.

MRS. WISE ATTENDS MEET
Mrs. Robert Wise returned home Friday from Bloxi, Miss. where she attended a four day meeting of the National Council of Home Demonstration Clubs and also the Associated Country Women of the World. The theme of the program was "Family Responsibility in Today's World." The program consisted of nationally known speakers, business sessions, recreation and sight-seeing.

The highlight of the entertainment was a shrimp jamboree on Wednesday evening. The state agricultural and industrial board cooperated with the Mississippi council in arranged decorations for this program which had the theme of "Old Times in Mississippi." Miss Betty Denton greeted the visitors.

Mrs. Wise will also attend the Alabama Farm Bureau meeting and the Home Demonstration Council meeting in Bloxi Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT ALABAMA

SPANISH EXPLORER

Narvaez, a Spanish soldier, and explorer with his exploring party, are believed to have been the first white men to set foot on Alabama soil. In 1528, they reached Mobile Bay but did not find their ships there as prearranged in Florida. Hostile Indians added to his many troubles. When his supplies were practically gone, he decided to build boats to take his party back to civilization but the expedition ended in disaster, and he was lost at sea.

Young Executives Parlay $10,000 Into $1 Million

CHICAGO—Four youthful executives, atomic physicists who helped develop the original A-bomb project at the University of Chicago, have run a $10,000 investment to more than a million dollars with a company that designs and manufactures nuclear gadgets.

The company's products range from machines costing upward of $10,000 down to small portable Geiger counters in the gadgetry classification. The concern also processes for industrial and medical use the atomic-generating raw materials produced by the government atomic plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The four youthful executives are James A. Schrieffer, 28, president; M. L. Kuran, 28; Thomas E. Mitchell, 27; and Emil W. Hinspaler, 29, vice-presidents.

Going through the factory and laboratories is like taking a peek at the awesome future. Complicated testing apparatus, wiring setups and precision tools face one in every direction. Precision is so refined employees and visitors may not even wear radium-dial wrist watches in some areas.

Makes Nuclear Toys
Consumer-type goods, those available to "just folk," that the company produces, so far are pretty much confined to portable Geiger counters for experimentation and prospecting for uranium ore.

The smallest of the company's Geiger counters is one being aimed at the forthcoming Christmas trade by a toy maker and distributor. It is enclosed in a cabinet which looks like a school lunch bucket, yet is claimed to be fully adequate to trace uranium ore deposits or lost radioactive materials.

It will be offered for two markets. The "boy" trade, starting at the age of nine, can use it in specially designed games. Older boys and adults can use it for various types of actual experimentation in radioactivity. The company has a manufacturing capacity of 500 of these sets a day and expects to produce 15,000 for the toy company.

The company has a more complicated counter which is sold by a large mail-order house. Ten thousand of this design will be produced.

New School Study
Soon to be in production is a static eliminator for newspaper presses. At present, the friction of rapidly moving paper in modern high-speed presses builds up so much static electricity the machines would stall if it weren't removed. To eliminate the static, presses now are equipped with a series of gas flame jets, the heat of which relieves the static condition.

The company's device will consist of a strip of radioactive isotopes which will serve the same purpose as the flame without the fire hazard and fuel expense. A little more on the technical side is a classroom demonstrator called the "classmaster." This is aimed at adding a fourth "r" to the proverbial three in high schools, colleges, universities, namely radioactivity.

Speeding Fine Leaps Up, Up As Dr. Spouts 55 Words
MILWAUKEE—A Milwaukee motorist talked himself into a fine—at $5 a sentence. Charles Oleick was charged with speeding 40 miles an hour across a viaduct. He argued that the patrolman who arrested him couldn't have clocked him properly.

The judge heard both sides and accepted the patrolman's testimony. "Ten dollars and cost," he ruled. "But, judge," Oleick said, "The officer was too far back to clock me."

"Fifteen dollars and costs," said the judge. "But, your honor," said Oleick, "I waited a long time at a stop-light before the officer came along."

"Twenty dollars and costs," said the judge. "I still say that he was too far back," said Oleick.

"Twenty-five dollars and costs," said the judge. Oleick still argued, but the judge didn't raise the fine. He had reached the maximum.

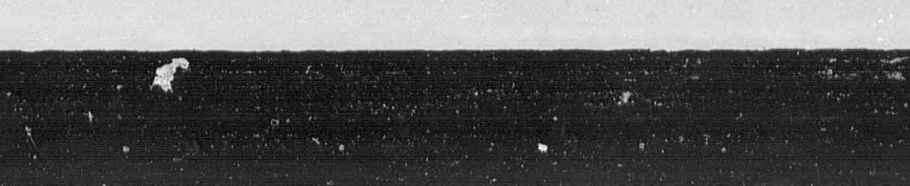

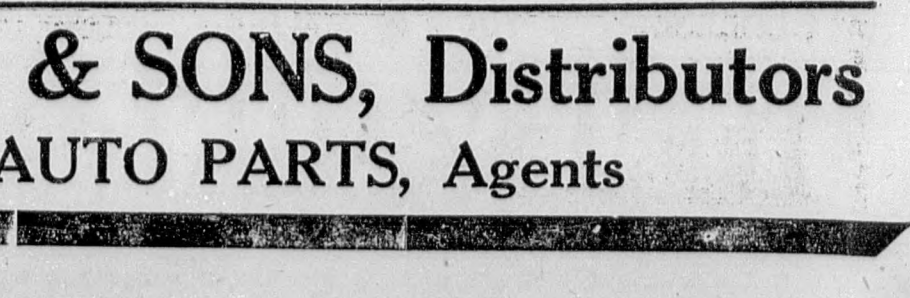

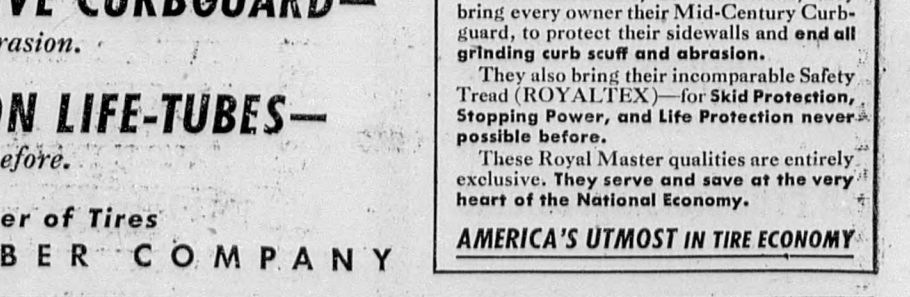

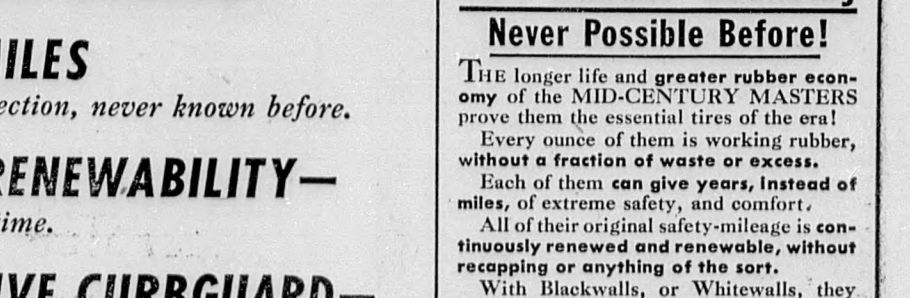

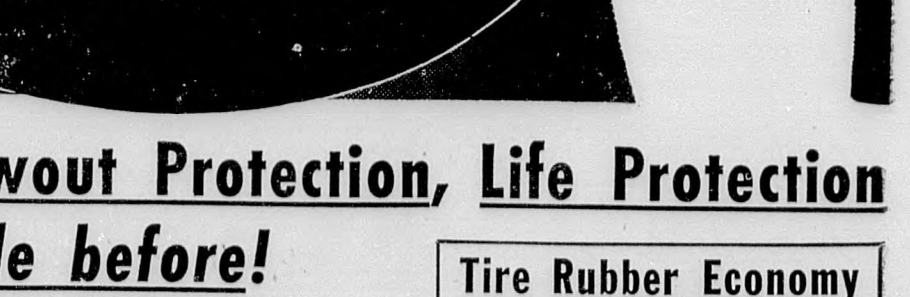

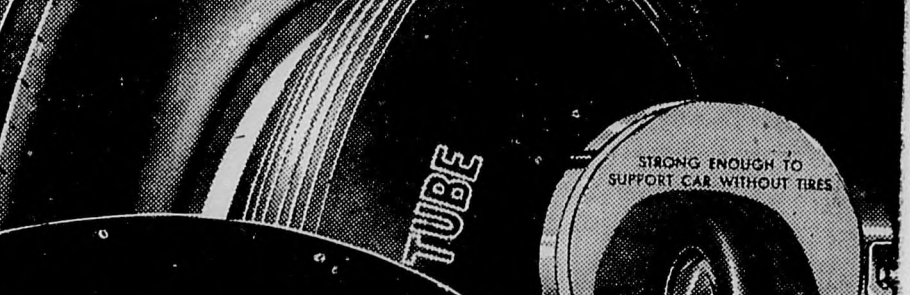

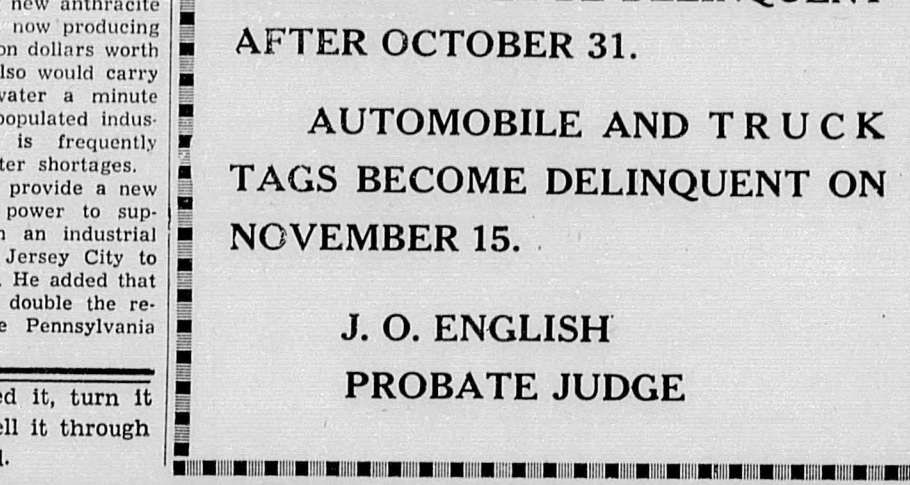

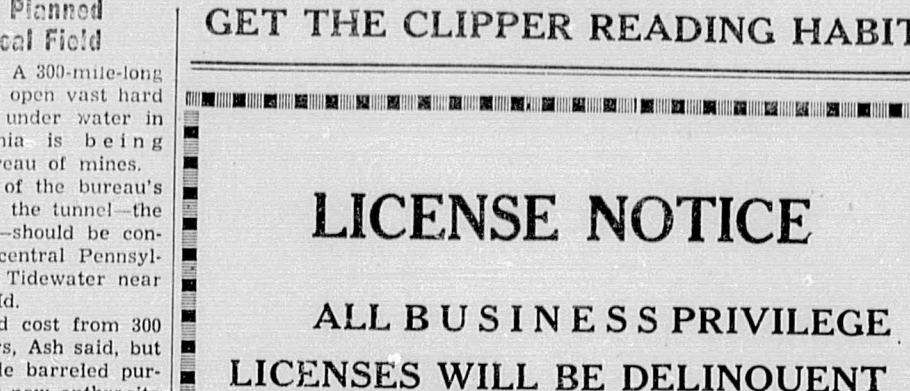

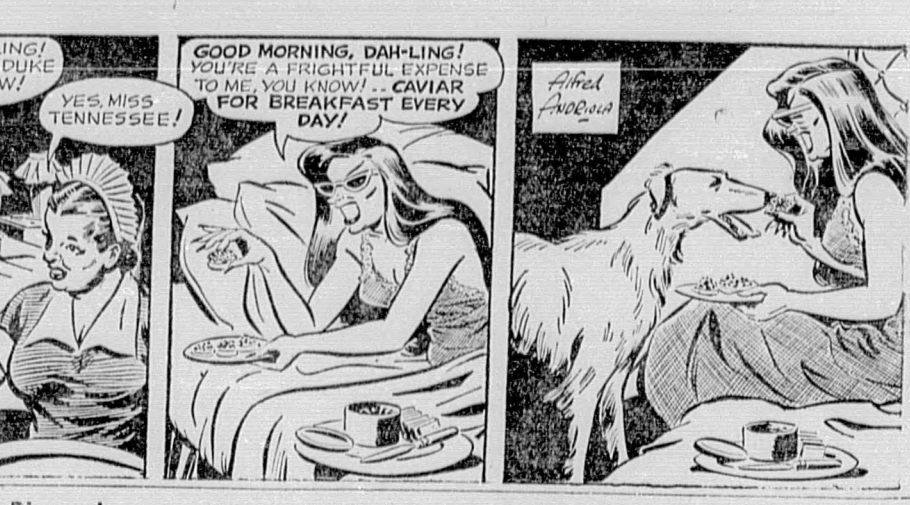

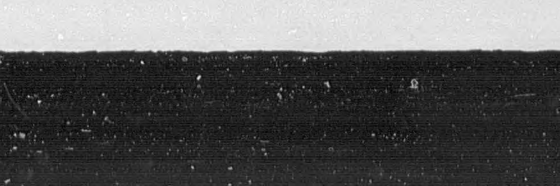

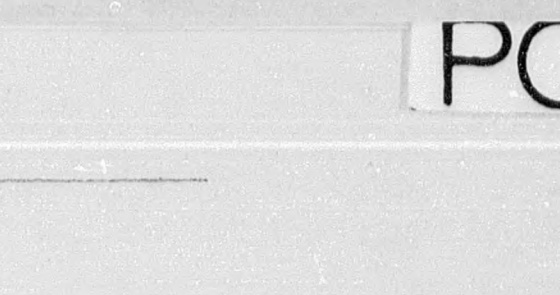

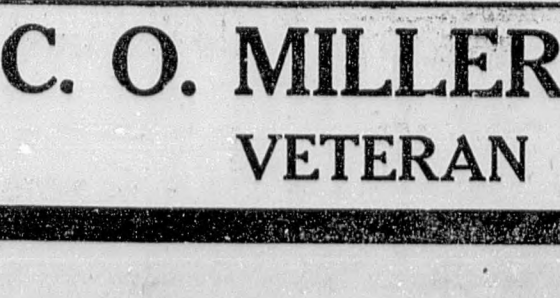

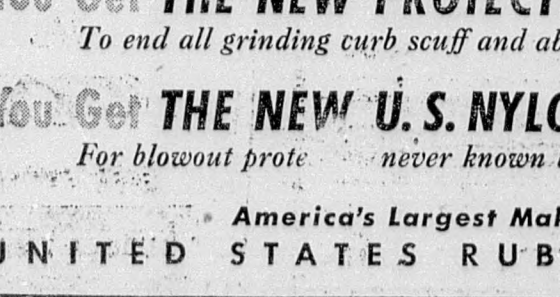

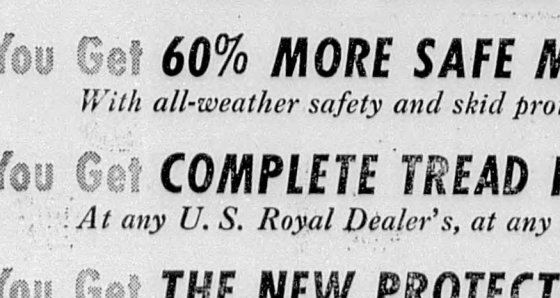

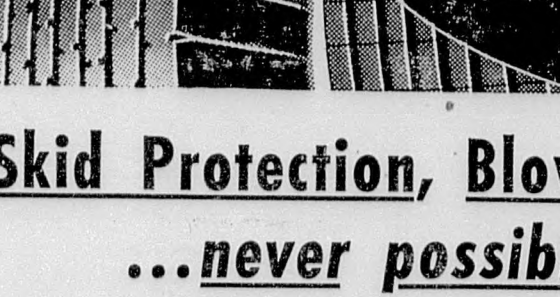

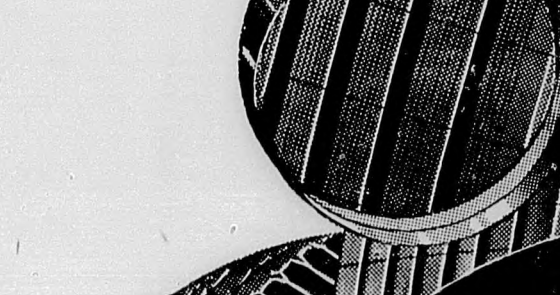

Swing Bridge Runs Wild As Tender Dies at Post
KANSAS CITY—A swinging bridge over the Missouri river ran wild for an hour when the tender, William E. Koon, died at the controls.

Automobiles jammed on the approaches. An airline pilot and some plane passengers, among them stranded motorists, missed flights from the Kansas City airport. Two railroad locomotives were halted.

The structure was the 87-year-old Hannibal Bridge, one of two that carry traffic from Kansas City north over the Missouri. The span was opened for a tugboat and when the tender died at the controls it continued to swing.

After an hour watching the runaway bridge, three young men from cars in the traffic jam jumped aboard and smashed the controls, stopping the swinging span.

307-Mile Tunnel Planned To Drain Huge Coal Field
WASHINGTON—A 307-mile-long tunnel to open vast hard coal reserves now under water in central Pennsylvania is being planned by the bureau of mines.

S. A. Ash, chief of the bureau's safety branch, said the tunnel—the longest of its kind—should be constructed from the central Pennsylvania coal field to Tidewater near Havre de Grace, Md.

The project would cost from 300 to 500 million dollars, Ash said, but would have a double-barreled purpose. While opening new anthracite reserves in an area now producing more than 300 million dollars worth of coal a year, it also would carry 600,000 gallons of water a minute through a heavily populated industrial area which is frequently threatened with water shortages.

This water would provide a new source of electric power to supplement supplies in an industrial area roughly from Jersey City to Baltimore, Ash said. He added that the drainage would double the remaining life of the Pennsylvania anthracite field.
